A DIP

To Establish Dairy and Locker Plant at Marlinton

When present plans are consummated, Pocahontas County will have a fine, up-to-date milk processing plant, a modern dairy bar, and food locker plant, it was announced last week.

Pocahontas Foods, Inc., a new concern, was incorporated last week with a capital stock of $25,000. Incorporators were E. Clyde Bussard, Z. S. Smith, Jr., and A. G. Killingsworth.

Mr. Bussard stated that the plant will be built in Marlinton, though a definite site has not yet been selected and that it is hoped to have it in operation sometime before the end of this year. He emphasized that such a plant would be a distinct advantage to this area in many ways. First of all, it would provide an outlet for the milk products of county farmers, right at home, and at the same time would make the milk and all of its by-products available to the area's non-producers. The dairy bar would attract persons seeking light lunches, "giant" milk shakes, etc. The locker plant would bring to persons in this vicinity complete refrigeration and preservation facilities for meat and produce, making it possible for them to have quantities of foodstuffs on hand and ready for use at all times.

The completed project, Mr. Bussard believes, will fill a great need in this community, and will add greatly to the prosperity and general well-being of the people of Pocahontas County.

WISEMAN REUNION AUGUST 31

The 34th annual Wiseman Reunion

The reasons why two-thirds of the boys and girls in West Virginia quit school before finishing the 12th grade will receive intensive study by state school leaders during the State Education Association's third annual work-conference which opened Sunday at Camp Caesar, Webster County's 4-H camp. One Hundred and fifty educators — elementary, high school and college teachers; principals and superintendents — representing virtually every county school system and college in the state, were present for the five-day meeting which extended through August 21.

Although the SEA is continuing work on the permanent conference theme, "Building a Better West Virginia Through Education," particular attention will be focused this year upon problems of conserving and developing the state's human resources. "Specifically," explained the association's executive secretary P. F. Reeder, "we want to know why so many boys and girls fail to finish school in West Virginia and what can be done about this critical problem." The secretary termed West Virginia's boys and girls the "most important and

A famous saying is that "Cleanliness is next to godliness." Anyway, Guy R. Faulknier, town sergeant, has called attention to the fact that Marlintonians can help greatly to have a cleaner town. Shiny red waste cans have been placed at convenient points along both sides of Main street and town officials are urging citizens to help keep cleaner streets here by retaining waste paper, cigarette packs, candy wrappers, popcorn bags and coke cups until they get to one of the waste cans, instead of dropping such unsightly refuse into the streets.

The move apparently has won general approval, and many fine things have been said about it — now the only thing left to do is to use the waste receptacles.

COMPLETE CASE AGAINST McDOWELL MINE FOREMAN

Following a deliberation of less than one hour upon resumption of the court session following the dismissal for supper, the jury returned a verdict of voluntary manslaughter, carrying a sentence of from one to five years.

Curry is to be released under bond, and a hearing will be held on July 1st upon a motion to set aside the verdict.

The state paraded 14 witnesses before a Pocahontas circuit court jury in rapid succession today and completed its case against Sam Curry, 38-year-old mine foreman charged with killing two union miners last November.

Two defense witnesses also appeared before the jury during the first day of the trial, brought here from McDowell county on a change of venue.

Curry, whose attorneys entered a plea of self-defense, is being tried for murder in the fatal shooting of Will Hunt, 56-year-old Negro of Eckman, McDowell county, during the first day of a nation-wide coal walk-out at Eureka Hollow last November 21.

James Roosevelt Thomas, former United Mine Workers committeeman,

Marlinton said Thomas and Hunt had threatened Curry in April, 1946, during another mine shutdown and "Curry knew they were hostile toward him" as they approached.

The attorney said they asked Curry what he "thought of the strike," and that the foreman replied "its none of your business."

"We'll make it our business," Cooper said one of the two replied, and Hunt brandished a cane. He quoted one of the two as saying "Let's go get him."

He said Curry then reached for a gun he had seen a short time before. He contended there was no premeditation on the foreman's part.

On Wednesday morning and afternoon witnesses, including the defendant, were called by the defense and prosecution. Among them were a number of character witnesses for Curry. Prosecution attempted to bring out through cross-questioning of these witnesses that Curry had had trouble at various times with other persons. He repeatedly inquired of these witnesses if they knew of trouble Sam Curry had had with his brother-in-law, and if they knew he had been arrested in 1944 and fined for assault for "slapping a woman" neighbor. The witnesses testified they had no knowledge of these incidents, and in response to questions by defense attorneys declared Curry to be also was killed at the time. Curry was indicted on murder charges in both slayings.

Lloyd Thomas told the jury today he had accompanied his cousin Roosevelt Thomas to the Euheka Hollow community building on the afternoon of the shooting.

There, he said, the cousin met Hunt and the two left soon afterwards, saying they were going to talk to Curry about stopping work while the strike was on. Curry was unloading a truck of coal into a railroad car about 200 feet away, he said.

Saw Men Fall

A short time later, Lloyd Thomas related, he heard a shot and looking up the road, saw Hunt fall. Two other shots followed and on the third, he said, he saw his cousin fall. Roosevelt Thomas was running away from Curry at the time.

His story was substantiated in most of its details by other state witnesses, who said they saw the shootings from the community building or from their homes nearby.

All denied having heard any argument preceding the shooting, or having seen Hunt raising a cane or attempting to pull Curry from the truck.

Testimony that Thomas, rather than Hunt, was the first man shot was given by Beverly Bowers, called as the first defense witness.

Bowers, son of the owner of a strip mine adjoining that at which Curry worked, said he stopped by Thomas and Hunt that afternoon and told to stop work because of the strike. Bringing in a last truckload of coal, he said he parked across the road and about 20 feet away from Curry's truck.

He said he heard no argument as Hunt and Thomas approached Curry, but saw Will Hunt raise a cane as though to strike the foreman. Cura peaceful and law-abiding citizen of good reputation.

When the defense rested, the charge was given to the jury by Circuit Judge Mark L. Jarrett, who also instructed them concerning possible verdicts.

Arguments for the prosecution were presented by Prosecuting Attorney Richard Currence of Pocahontas County, Attorney S. H. Sharp of Marlinton, and Prosecuting Attorney Richard Parsons of McDowell county. Defense arguments were presented by Attorneys Crockett and Capehart of McDowell county, and Attorney A. E. Cooper of Marlinton.

The jury began deliberation about 5 p. m., with Lennie D. Nottingham of Durbin acting as foreman. Shortly after 6 p. m., when no verdict had been returned, the judge had Sheriff W. O. Ruckman to cause the jury to be brought before him. Judge Jarrett then ordered the men to be taken to a local restaurant for supper, and instructed them to return to the court room at 7:30 p. m., to be sent out for further deliberation.

Foreign War Brides Are Said to Lead in Charm

Morgantown, W. Va.— American girls have it over their sisters of foreign lands when it comes to shapely legs, good grooming, novel hair-dos, and cooking fancy dishes, but there's a certain charm, found particularly among French girls, they haven't been able to capture.

These are some of the opinions expressed by members of the newly-formed Overseas Wives' Club of Morgantown, a chapter of the national-organized English-speaking Union. The group is now composed of 10 members, most of whom are married to West Virginia University students. With only one exception, the girls met their Yankee husbands during the war years in their native countries.

"Girls over here are much better groomed than the French," said Mrs. Marcelle Green, a native of Casablanca.

Contrary to the general conception of women stylists, the dark-haired pretty bride of five months said that even before the war clothes worn by the average French girl were not as becoming as those worn by Americans.

"The hair-does of American girls are much more becoming than those of the French, and I believe their legs are more shapely too," added Mrs. Green, wife of William Green of Princeton, a student at the University. She noted, however, that there is one thing in which French girls excel—and that's charm.

French cooking and especially French bread rank high on the list of things Mrs. Green has missed since coming to this country last December.

a British officer killed before the child's birth.

"I was happy that my second child could be born in the United States so I could be near my husband," Mrs. Hill said.

Among the many things Mrs. Hill says she admires about American women is their interest in club work.

"I think it's wonderful that women here are able to accomplish so much through worthwhile organizations," she said, adding that in Ireland women are primarily interested in socials and teas.

Two of the wives were formerly in the armed-services and met their husbands while serving their country. Mrs. William Delardas of Newcastle-on-Tyne, England, was a wireless operator with the Auxiliary Territorial Service in England when she met her American soldier husband who was stationed at the same post.

Mrs. Delardas, the mother of a three-year-old girl, said "the traffic in this country really had me scared when I first came over," adding that "I'm finally getting used to it now."

She believes boys and girls in this country reach maturity earlier than the English, explaining that this might be because their are only a small number of co-educational institutions in England.

The other war bride seeing active service was Mrs. Robena Trippett who was a member of the Canadian Ground Forces and later joined the American Wacs. She met her husband while serving in George's Field, Ill.

ed pretty bride or five months said that even before the war clothes worn by the average French girl were not as becoming as those worn by Americans.

"The hair-does of American girls are much more becoming than those of the French, and I believe their legs are more shapely too," added Mrs. Green, wife of William Green of Princeton, a student at the University. She noted, however, that there is one thing in which French girls excel—and that's charm.

French cooking and especially French bread rank high on the list of things Mrs. Green has missed since coming to this country last December.

Agreeing with Mrs. Green on her impression of prettier dress styles here, Mrs. James Rogers of Glasgow, Scotland, said, however, that older women show better taste than the teen-agers.

"The young girls in this country are flamboyant in their dress," she observed, adding that she liked the styles worn by older women.

Mrs. Rogers met her husband in 1941 while he was engaged in government work in Scotland. They were married on Independence Day, 1942 and they both came to this country two years later. After returning to the States, Mr. Rogers joined the armed services and was sent to the Pacific. He received his discharge exactly one year to the day after he and his wife arrived in the United States.

A former secretary for the editor of the Associated Scottish Newspapers, Glasgow, Mrs. Rogers said she was impressed mainly by better opportunities offered women desiring work in his country.

That American girls are not too different from the "girls back home" was the opinion of Mrs. Richard L. Waddell of Brisbane, Australia. Mrs. Waddell is married to the telegraph editor of the Morgantown Post.

Mrs. Trippett, the mother of a seven-month-old son, is enrolled as a freshman at the University where her husband is a senior in pre-medicine.

Four other English girls who are members of the club are Mrs. Thomas McIntyre of London, mother of a four-month old daughter, Mrs. Donald Day of Midland, Mrs. Rex Everly of Helsby, in Cheshire, mother of a two-month-old daughter and Mrs. Norris Miley of Norfolk. The latter's husband, an electrical engineering student, is from Clarksburg.

Chairman of the group is Mrs. Rudolph Stoyer of Morgantown, who is also state regent of the Daughters of the American Colonists, state vice-president of the U. S. Daughters of 1812 and former state treasurer of Daughters of the American Revolution.

Mrs. Stoyer, noting that the group is the most interesting she has ever worked with, said that a number of socials had been planned for the summer months.

She explained that the national committee in New York advises each chapter in the country of the arrival of brides to settle in a particular city. In addition to Morgantown, other West Virginia cities having chapters are Charleston and Wheeling. Plans are underway for another group to Clarksburg.

Advisor to the group is Mrs. Irvin Stewart, wife of the University president. Dr. and Mrs. Stewart entertained the club at the May meet-country two years later. After returning to the States, Mr. Rogers joined the armed services and was sent to the Pacific. He received his discharge exactly one year to the day after he and his wife arrived in the United States.

Mrs. Hill, a native of Dublin, Ireland, met her husband at a tea at a relative's home in Wimbleton in 1944. They were married a year later.

COUNTY IN GRIP OF STORM

Pocahontas County, generously and cooperatively, has joined a considerable portion of the nation in what can honestly be termed as a record-breaking spell of winter.

For almost two weeks now, and with very little let-up, Old Man Winter has been blowing his chill breath with appalling force not only figuratively, but literally, "down our necks."

Whether he's furious about something, or is just trying to prove that he's still a virile old fellow, he has at least been successful in bringing a complete stalemate to business and most other work-a-day activities. Marlinton streets and stores have been practically deserted for days.

For what seems an interminable period, each night has brought another layer of snow on top of a generous beginning, and the result in some areas of the county is now becoming serious.

Strong winds have also aided Old Man Winter in his siege, and each time the snowing has abated, the wind has taken up the cause and would blow the loose snowflakes helter-skelter till it looked like a storm anyway. Depths have been variously reported as everything from 22 to 40 inches — and drifts, 'way up to here!

While James M. Bear of the Pocahontas Telephone Company reports his firm has had little trouble during the storm, State Road Commission employees and those of the Monongahela System have had a swag double dose of it. As fast as crews

Sen. McKinley Finds No Agreement in Effort to Get Drink Bill Considered

The State Senate very forcibly indicated Monday it wants no part of a whiskey-by-the-drink bill which squeaked through the House by a one-vote margin.

Senator McKinley, Democrat, Randolph (serving Pocahontas), proposed taking up the bill for immediate consideration, lifting the measure from its moribund state on the regular (non-priority) calendar.

The measure would permit sales of liquor over the bar in nationally-affiliated fraternal and veterans' organizations.

McKinley explained that his proposal did not necessarily indicate he was in favor of the bill's passage, but mentioned his connections with the American Legion and Elks club and said he felt it "my duty to intercede."

Majority Leader Johnston, Democrat, Mercer, and Minority Leader Boreman, Republican, Wood, opposed the motion and it was finally shouted down on a voice vote.

PUBLIC INVITED FOR LEGION'S 3rd ANNUAL ORATORICAL CONTEST

The third annual Pocahontas County High School Oratorical Contest is scheduled to take place at 8 o'clock next Monday night, March 10, in the auditorium of Marlinton high school. It is announced by District Commander Frank Johnson of the American Legion, who has been a leader in the movement since its inception here.

The 1947 county contest will feature contestants from the Hillsboro, Marlinton and Greenbank high school student bodies, and is being sponsored by the three county Legion posts — No. 147, Hillsboro; No. 117, Durbin, and No. 59, Marlinton.

Contestants from the county contest will also participate in the District contest to be held at Lewisburg on Friday, March 14th. At the district meeting winners will be selected to compete in the State contest. In turn, winners in the State contest will compete in a Regional event, and the Regional winners will compete for National honors.

West Virginia will be honored in part of that regard this year, since the Tenth Annual National High School Oratorical Contest will be held in Charleston, about the middle of April.

The subject for the county contestants next Monday is "The Contribution in Everyday Life," and Mr. Johnson emphasizes that the public is cordially invited and urged to attend.

Council Passes Parking Meter Resolution

With what this newspaper considers a deplorable disregard for expressed public desire, a majority (four members) of the Town Council of Marlinton Monday night passed the resolution calling for the installation of parking meters on some central streets here.

There is a possibility, of course, that this newspaper could be wrong in its conception of public government. We make no claim of infallibility. But it has always been our idea that the government of a republic, when it did not call for violation of an official's moral conscience, was designed to carry out the will of the majority. And we have never deemed it an humiliation for an official to accede to such influences when no moral conscience principle was involve.

In fact, we have believed that such accession was the ideal in a land where "government of the people, by the people, and for the people" has been its most ennobling asset.

However, the local parking meter resolution was passed in spite of the fact that at a recent public meeting to discuss the question, approximately thirty of the town's centrally-located merchants appeared and expressed almost unanimous opposition. It was passed in spite of the fact that the Pocahontas County Farm Bureau, representing the largest organized group of citizens in the county at large, adopted and sent to the Council a strong resolution of protest against installation of the meters. The Marlinton Woman's Club passed a similar resolution.

It was passed in spite of the fact that there is general agreement that Marlinton has no real traffic problem; certainly none that could not be effectively corrected by a parking ordinance and police supervision.

The resolution to install parking meters here was adopted, too, in the face of the fact that other small towns have had their meters removed because the anticipated revenue did not materialize, and because a considerable portion of the proceeds which were derived from them went to the meter company, rather than to the town treasury.

COUNTY MAN KILLED IN TRUCK WRECK

Calvin Underwood, 24, formerly of the Beaver Creek section of Pocahontas County, but more recently of Baltimore, Md., met a tragic death shortly after midnight on July 3, 1948, when a dump truck which he was driving overturned on a sharp curve at the old Lockridge place, near Minnehaha Springs.

Young Underwood, who was home for the Fourth of July holidays, was on his way to Marlinton when the wreck occurred at 12:05 o'clock.

Local state police officers believe he became sleepy and as he neared the sharp curve failed to turn his wheel, then suddenly awakened to find he was not making the turn, and jerked the wheel violently. The dump truck then ran up a steep embankment on the right side of the road and turned over backward. Underwood sustained a deep gash into his skull from the framework of the vehicle. It is believed he died instantly.

A number of relatives of the deceased reside in this county, and a brother, Carl Underwood, operates the Pocahontas Auto Wreckers, in Marlinton.

CIVIC GROUPS PROTEST PARKING METER PLAN HERE

Civic organizations this week began to voice their protests to any contemplated installation of parking meters in the Town of Marlinton, and two of them sent formal protests to town officials, it was reported.

At its business session last Friday afternoon, members of the Marlinton Woman's Club passed a resolution of protest against installation of the meters and instructed its corresponding secretary to inform the Mayor of its disapproval.

Also taking a stand against parking meters for Marlinton were the members of the Board of Directors of the Pocahontas County Farm Bureau, who forwarded to the officials the following resolution:

At a meeting of the Board of Directors of Pocahontas County Farm Bureau, Inc., held in the office of the County Agent of Pocahontas County, at Marlinton, West Virginia, on the 14th day of May, 1948, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

DEMOCRACY ————— by M

COUNTY POLITICS ARE STILL MOSTLY IN "RUMOR" STAGE

Political activity in Pocahontas County continued to be mostly in the "rumor" stage this week, with a lot of possible candidates for various offices being talked about, but with only one official application on file at the offices of the county or circuit clerks for the more important offices.

Glenn Shinaberry had filed his application for Democratic member of the House of Delegates from this county, according to Grady K. Moore, circuit clerk. There was talk that W. R. Pierson, of Huntersville might be a Republican candidate for nomination to the same office, but his application had not been received at the Journal's press time.

Reliable information has already led to the publication in county papers of the intention of State Senator F. C. Allen to be a candidate for reelection, and also of the intention of Frank McLaughlin, Democrat, and O. W. Barnett of Clover Lick, Republican, to seek the nomination for Sheriff of Pocahontas County. We have heard of no intended opposition for Dr. Allen, but on the street there has been wide discussion concerning the possibility of other tickets in both parties for the Sheriff post.

But, so far, it's only talk.

Members of the Council met at the Farming for Better Living of Pocahontas County, the Monongahela Power Co. a dinner at the Tolson restaurant last Thursday.

Peter J. Hanlon, of Bartow, was elected to the council. He succeeded Ferguson, who served for two years. Walter E. Jett was reelected as secretary.

Council members present were as follows: Mr. Jett; Walter E. Jett; J. A. Sydenstricker; C. W. Price, William LaRose, Z. S. Smith, Pritchard, E. Harry D. Cochran, David Smith, R. Glen Nicholson and C. V. Jett being added as guests.

INTRODUCING THE CANDIDATES

In the weeks remaining before the election The Journal will bring to its readers an intimate sketch of the Republican Candidates for election to County offices. The articles will be based on knowledge of these men as we have known them, and from information obtained from reliable sources of recommendation. We present them in the honest belief that they are men worthy of your support.

George S. Sharp, Marlinton, Is Party's Candidate For Prosecuting Attorney of Pocahontas County

By AUBREY E. FERGUSON

A life-long Pocahontas County resident, former Marlinton high school and West Virginia University athlete, and a member of one of the County's distinguished families, George S. Sharp of Marlinton, is the Republican party's candidate for Prosecuting Attorney of Pocahontas County in the General Election which will be held on November 2, 1948.

"Young George," as he is favorably known (to distinguish him from his uncle, George W. Sharp, also of Marlinton), was chosen for the candidacy by the Republican Executive Committee upon his return here after the May Primary Election had been held.

George S. Sharp, who is now 28 years of age, was a student for one year at Greenbrier Military School following his graduation from Marlinton high school.

Marine Veteran

After four years of study at West Virginia University, during 3 years of which he was a member of the Mountaineer football team, George enlisted as a private in the United ing his service with the Marines he enrolled in Officer Candidate school, and won consistent promotion. Upon his separation from service in April, 1946, he had attained the rank of captain, and has since been accorded that rank as a permanent rating in the reserve corps of that branch of service.

While a member of the Marine Corps, he was stationed at Quantico, Va., and also attended the Naval War College at Newport. His overseas service brought duty at the Russell Islands, and in China. At the latter post he was a member of the American Occupation Forces engaged in deporting the Japanese back to their own country, and in maintaining the occupational government of this country in China during wartime and for several months after the close of hostilities. In the attack on Shuri Castle on Okinawa the young Marine sustained severe chest wounds. His government awarded him the Purple Heart.

He is a member of Pocahontas Post No. 50, The American Legion.

Completes Legal Schooling

Returning to the University after the close of the war, young Mr. Sharp completed his law training there, and graduated with the class of June, 1948, with AB. and LLB. degrees.

The candidate married the former Miss Vivienne Worl of California, and they are the parents of a son, Wade Summers, now two months old.

to which he is seeking election in next month's voting.

All of these friends, Democrats as well as Republicans, credit him with being a young man of whom the community will have just reason to be proud. They believe him to be serious-minded in his approach to the real values of public service, and entertain no doubt concerning his ability and his desire to dispatch the duties of Prosecuting Attorney with complete efficiency.

Important Office

It is a well-known fact to all citizens, that the office of Prosecuting Attorney is an important one. Its complex nature requires the knowledge and skill of a lawyer, and at the same time demands a patient understanding of one's fellowman.

The laws of a nation, state and county stand in the peculiar position of being loved by some because they are felt to be just; feared by some because they are sometimes severely hated by some because to a certain degree they are out of sympathy with the prevalent temper of certain individuals, and respected by some because they are felt to be necessary. In carrying out the duties of office a Prosecuting Attorney must be fair and impartially minded, as ready to protect a society from injustice as he is to bring justice to an offender, and to see that none are treated

Mr. Sharp is engaged in law practice here with his father, Summers H. Sharp, former Circuit Court Judge and once Republican nominee for Governor of West Virginia.

Endowed by nature with a commanding physique and a warm and friendly personality, and enriched by a family heritage known far and wide because of evident integrity both in public office and in the practice of law, there is little doubt among those who know young George that he will be a strong and favorable contender for the office

He is to bring justice to an offender and to see that none are treated unfairly. And a man elected to this office should be one whom the people believe to be thoroughly capable of meeting these demands in all respects.

It was in the belief that such capability and the character to back it could be found in young George Sharp that the Committee selected him as a candidate for Prosecuting Attorney of Pocahontas County. Also their belief that their selection will meet with the approval of the citizens of this County in the November General Election.

Touchdowns were scored for the Greenbrier County team by Zimmerman, Dempsey and Hinkle, with the latter being responsible for their three extra points. For Marlinton scores were tallied by Jim Moore (2), and Jack Sharp, with Styrl Sharp making the extra count.

M. H. S. Downs Frankford In '48 Season Opener

Marlinton high's Copperheads defeated Frankford 13-7 last Friday to get its 1948 football season under way.

The visitors drew first blood when they scored in the initial period. A pass was thrown to Murrill who lateraled to Fuller and the latter then stepped off 50 yards for a touchdown. Fuller plowed through for the extra point.

In the second quarter Nelson intercepted a pass for Marlinton on the 40-yard line. After several attempts with little gain, Rich Byrd threw a pass to Jim Moore who carried the pigskin 30 yards for the Copperheads' first score. The try for extra point failed as the half ended with the score 7-6 in favor of Frankford, although Marlinton led in yardage gained, 170 to 113, and had 7 first downs to Frankford's 3.

In the third quarter Jackie Sharp took the ball in a quick opening line play and with some very fine running carried the ball to the 3-yard line. Following two unsuccessful attempts, Jim Moore finally plunged across for the marker and the extra point was gained on a pass by Rich Byrd to Styrl Sharp.

Both teams fought on fairly even terms in the final period, and the game ended 13-7 in favor of Marlinton.

Ten passes were thrown by R. Byrd with 8 being completed. The visitors tried 4 and completed 1.

The locals led in total yardage gained, 311 to 266 yards, and in first downs, 14 to 7.

Hon. George W. Sharp, Mayor,
Members of the Town Council.
Marlinton, West Virginia

GENTLEMEN:

I regret that a previous obligation to deliver the address at the Junior-Senior Banquet of Marlinton High School will prevent my personal attendance at the special public meeting on Thursday night. However, as an individual citizen and business man of Marlinton I desire, for what I consider sufficient reasons, to register my personal protest at the Council's contemplated action of installing parking meters on the streets of Marlinton.

I have always favored, and will continue to favor, any move or action in this community by the Council or other groups which I believe will result in general public good. But I feel that the installation of parking meters in our town is an unwarranted action, which would act to the rare occasions, Marlinton has no major parking problem on its main streets. It is seldom that one cannot find several parking places in any one of its several main business blocks.

And this convenience means much to those who have business places in these sections. A great many of any store's sales depend on the "chance" customer — the man who happens to stop his car in front of one's store. Many of these sales would be lost to the merchants because of the natural avoidance of the section where it was necessary to deposit a coin or coins for the privilege of parking.

In larger cities, where traffic is always congested in the central area, the parking meter may serve as a helpful and lucrative means of limiting the amount of time one may park on a main thoroughfare, but I feel that there is surely general opinion that Marlinton does not fall within this classification.

In addition, it should be kept in mind by the members of the Town Council that the life-blood of a rural town is derived from the number of persons in the area who find it convenient to do their shopping there, and who are encouraged to do so in every possible manner.

And with the present high cost of living, which is felt by everyone, it seems to me to be an unfair practice to force farmers and other town visitors to dribble additional pennies and nickels into a parking meter for the privilege of patronizing a town's business people, many of whom are already feeling the pinch of the extreme high cost of doing business today.

When one adds to this the annoyance of limiting one's shopping time to the turn of a parking meter wheel, the necessary enforcement of attendant regulations, and the ill-will caused by such enforcement, it does not seem that such a move would be advisable in Marlinton.

I am patriotic enough in principle to abide by any decision that is made in this regard if it meets with the approval of a majority of those who are directly concerned — but I feel that the true will of these people probably will not be served in any hasty action resulting in the installation of the contemplated parking meters.

There should, in my opinion, be a further explanation of the necessity, the obligation of the Town, and the fi-several communities not having organized Farm Women's groups during the month of May.

Pocahontas County Farm people have come a long way since Extension work began in West Virginia in 1912.

One of the earliest records available in the State Extension Office at Morgantown tells of the pioneer work of Jim Banks, well-known to many Pocahontas County people, now located at Alderson as District Agent for negro Extension work. This 1917 record mentioned the town of Seebert and said that Mr. Banks often walked 20 miles to help people. It also mentioned that the first Farm Women's Clubs were organized in Pocahontas County that year to assist in the leadership of the girls' corn and tomato clubs (which preceded the present day 4-H Club) in the state.

NEW OFFICIALS REMOVE METERS FROM PARSONS

Parsons, July 10—One of the first acts of the new city officers of Parsons was to have the 135 parking meters removed from the streets of their city. Mayor Wesley Cross said that the act was made possible by the popular vote of the entire council due to the unfavorable reaction of the residents and to the small profit the city realized from their entire collections.

The meters were installed in the fall of 1946 at an approximate cost of $10,000. Each meter cost $75 plus the installing charge of $3.00 each. Since their installation proceeds have totaled approximately $4,000 with $2,948 going to the Duncan Meter Corporation.

HEAVY STORM HITS CASS AREA

The violent rain and electric storm in the upper county section last Wednesday hit hardest at Cass, according to reports. It forced a shutdown of the Mower Lumber Company mill. The lashing storm washed out the mill pond at Cass and between 3 and 4 carloads of logs went into the Greenbrier River. It also took out bridges on the Company track on Cheat mountain, and gullied the Coal Run road from Cass toward Stony Bottom till only one-way traffic could go over it. The heavy rain also cut the road three times between the bridge and Stony Bottom, reports said.

During the storm, a bolt of lightning killed a cow belonging to Brown Beard of Bartow.

Fumes From Stove Ashes Overcome Sleeping Man

Frank Weatherholt of Riverside Addition, Marlinton, truck driver at the local tannery, had a narrow escape from death at his home Thursday night.

Preparing to retire about midnight Mr. Weatherholt had removed a bucket of coal ashes from his stove, and left the bucket setting on the hearth when he went to bed. Presumably some hot coals gave off a suffocating gas which overcame Mr. Weatherholt in his sleep.

The victim was alone at home, as other members of his family were spending the night with his wife's people. When he did not report for work the following morning, other persons went to his home, believing he had overslept. When their knocks were not answered, they looked in at the window, where they could see Mr. Weatherholt in bed, but they were unable to arouse him. Alarmed, friends forced an entrance, and then called a local physician, who revived Defense Attorney Adolph Cooper received word by wire on Tuesday from B. B. Jarvis, clerk, that the State Supreme Court had reversed judgment, set aside the verdict, and awarded a new trial in the case of Vesper Ray Cutlip of Pocahontas County. Cutlip was convicted of grand larceny at the June term of Circuit Court here last year, and because of previous convictions was sentenced to life imprisonment.

Attorney Cooper argued the case before the Supreme Court on January 20th.

Cutlip was indicted, along with Lawson Jordan Cutlip, Birdie Nancy Dean and Charles Alexander, on a charge of stealing three hams and a shoulder from the meat house of Parker Curry of Durbin. In the Circuit Court trials, Lawson Jordan Cutlip pleaded guilty to the charge and was sentenced to 15 years in

Officials of the Town of Marlinton are proceeding with plans for the improvement and enlargement of the water service facilities here, it was learned this week.

Facing demands from the Fire Underwriters group for more adequate facilities to guard against disaster or emergency or face the alternative of a general local increase in fire insurance rates, the mayor and council deemed the greater return to the local area could be effected by improvement of facilities.

Present plans, according to Mayor George W. Sharp, call for the installation of two 100,000 gallon storage tanks on a lot to be purchased along the Mountain View Cemetery road. These new tanks will approximate the same ground level as present reservoir equipment, and will be connected up to the existing water system.

The proposed enlargement of the local water service system will cost approximately $60,000. Mayor Sharp said, and funds for the expansion will be obtained from the necessary amount of revenue bonds. He ex-

"I am hurt," Sir Andrew Conrad said.
"I am hurt, but I am not slain:
I'll lie me down and bleed a while,
And then I'll fight again."

And with expressions similar to that of the old Scotch ballad quoted above, the Golden Eagle of Greenbank high school, its feathers drooping, took refuge in its nest after a surprise attack by the Cooperheads of Marlinton high school in the annual Armistice Day football game between the two teams here last Thursday.

The strong Greenbank aggregation with only one loss (to Alderson) to mar its season record, and buoyed up by a victory over Webster Springs to break that team's 20-game winning streak, was highly favored in practically all quarters to take Thursday's game from a Marlinton team which had split its season with four wins and four losses up to the time of the Armistice Day contest.

However, the Mosser-men found they were no match for a determined, mud-rooting eleven, as Coach White's "Beaky" Buzzard streaked off for a 55-yard run in the early minutes of play, and Tom Morrison took the ball ed by both the traditional rivals, and it was overwhelmingly conceded to be one of the most exciting contests between the two teams in years.

Before press time Gov. Thomas E. Dewey and Gov. Earl Warren, Republican standard bearers, had sent telegrams of congratulations to their successful opponents, President Harry S. Truman, and Sen. Alben Barkley of Kentucky.

There was every indication from early radio reports that Democrats had made sweeping gains in seats for the U. S. Senate and House of Representatives, and that all Democratic candidates for West Virginia state offices had won by substantial majorities.

At noon on Wednesday, following a close count from precincts already in, the race between Prosecuting Attorney Dick Currence, Democrat, and George S. Sharp, Republican, showed Currence to be leading by 11 votes, with only the Lobelia precinct unreported. The tally from Lobelia gave Currence 50 votes and Sharp 54, leaving Currence as the victor on this initial count, by a margin of 7 votes. All other races showed wide Democratic margins. Dr. H. W. McNeel Dies

Dr. Harvey Winters McNeel, aged 76 years, died at his home in Hillsboro on Monday morning, November 1, 1948. He had been in ill health the past eight years or more. He had worn himself out in the service of his fellow man, as a country doctor.

On Wednesday afternoon, the funeral service was held from the Oak Grove Church by his pastor, Rev. J. K. Fleming. His body was laid to rest in the family plot in Oak Grove Cemetery.

The deceased was a son of the late Issac and Nannie Beard McNeel, of Millpoint. He married Miss Elizabeth Edgar, who preceded him more than two years since. Their five children are Isaac, Alfred and Paul; Harriet and Dorothy McNeel. Of his father's family there remain his sister, Mrs. Mary Gold Browning; his twin brother, T. S. McNeel, and his brother, J. Lanty McNeel.

Thus is noted the passing of one of our most useful and prominent citizens. In the active practice of his profession as a physician for nearly a half century, he literally wore himself out in service to suffering humanity.

Dr. McNeel was a graduate of Washington and Lee University and the Medical College of the University

Dr. McNeel was descended from the best families of the Greenbrier Valley and his life fulfilled well the high traditions of distinguished ancestry.

Scoring in the first and third periods and adding two extra points, Arbogast led the scoring, but close behind was Greenbank's passing ace, Johnny Ralston, who also had two markers along with one extra point. George Rexrode scored the other touchdown with Jack Moore adding the extra point with a pass into the end-zone from Ralston.

Greenbank dominated in all departments in their season's finale, holding a 12 to 3 advantage in first downs and gaining 281 yards on the ground and through the air while Hillsboro was held to 90.

This victory brought the Eagles' winning streak to six after dropping an opening game to Alderson.

Frankfort and Marlinton will round out the Greenbank schedule in that order.
